Staffing Consulting

Whether you're a freelance financial consultant searching for projects or a seasoned executive scouting new opportunities, staffing agencies have the inside scoop on which organizations are seeking consultants with your skills. Many employers rely on staffing agencies (or recruiters, search firms or staffing firms. they're called by various names) specifically to help them find experienced professionals for senior and managerial accounting roles.

Our key differentiator is the strength of our recruiting team. We hire only the best technical recruiters and we provide continuous training on technical screening strategies, advanced candidate sourcing methods and behavioral interviewing techniques in order to consistently add value to our clients. Our recruiting team is equipped with powerful tools and resources that many of our competitors do not utilize.

Staff Augmentation:

Our core service offering is providing IT staff augmentation services that help our clients execute largescale technology initiatives. We have proven experience in delivering qualified, reliable IT professionals at an unbeatable value.

Our capabilities in providing high quality on-demand IT staffing in niche skill areas across the spectrum of information technology has resulted in hundreds of successful projects in several key areas, including application development, software testing, project management, systems engineering, business intelligence, enterprise architecture and security.

Recruiting Process:

We identify potential candidates through referrals, LinkedIn, Meetup groups, networking events, user groups, conferences, email marketing campaigns, online advertising and direct recruiting.

Our recruiters are more than resume sources. They are natural relationship builders and trusted advisors. Talented IT professionals refer their friends and colleagues to our team because of our competency, integrity and ability to provide excellent career opportunities that match their individual criteria.

Technical Competencies:

Companies need to get IT projects executed faster with fewer resources. IT Managers need the best people to get projects done right, but they are busier than ever.

We enable hiring managers to reduce the amount of time spent interviewing candidates so they can focus on managing and mentoring their staff and driving projects to completion. We are able to technically screen candidates more effectively than our competitors because our recruiting organization is divided into specialized teams.

Pay rolling Services:

In addition to our core IT staffing and consulting solutions, we offer comprehensive pay rolling, independent contractor engagement and supplier management solutions that help clients reduce costs and mitigate risks associated with engaging self-identified W2 workers, 1099 independent contractors and Corp-to-Corp contractors.
